

Conversation & Connection

Join us for a FREE event on maternal health and education to include discussions on racial disparities and inequities.

Tuesday, May 3, 2022

5:30pm-7:00pm

President's Dining Room

University Center

1400 Coleman Ave | Macon, GA

(next to Hawkins Arena)

Open to the public.

In-person space limited. Live stream link will be available.

Topics include unconscious bias, the history of structural racism in healthcare and addressing community solutions. Join us for networking, presentations, Q&A panel of experts and a special viewing of Toxic: A Black Woman's Story

To RSVP, please scan this code or

Email: rsvpmacon@atriumhealth.org

Discussion Topics:

- Do you think women of color have experiences that put their babies at greater risk during pregnancy?
- What are some of the daily stressors pregnant, working women experience?
- How might those experiences be exacerbated for black or minority women?
- Do you think health care providers generally treat all women under their care the same?

Navicent Health Foundation
ENCOURAGING YOUR GENEROSITY TO TRANSFORM VISIONS INTO REALITY

MERCER
UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

