Maternal Benefit Assistance

We consider it a privilege to be your Regional Perinatal Center and we would like to take some of the financial burden off of your family. With funds provided by the Department of Public Health, we can help pay your hospital bill.

About the Program

In 1972, the Department of Public Health divided the state of Georgia into 6 regions. Each region was assigned a Regional Perinatal Center (RPC) to provide high-risk care for both mothers and babies to support the other hospitals in the region.

Atrium Health Navicent The Medical Center is the RPC for Central Georgia. When a maternal patient in one of our regional hospitals needs a higher level of care, our Maternal-Fetal Medicine specialists (perinatologists) accept the patient and provide the care they need. If a baby is expected to need care in our neonatal intensive care unit after birth, we will transport the mother prior to delivery, so we can keep mom and baby together.

Who Is Eligible

This benefit is only available to Georgia residents.

In order to qualify for up to $6,000

you must meet both medical and financial eligibility requirements.

Medical eligibility will be determined based on identified diagnosis from your hospitalization.

Balances will be reviewed after insurance has paid. We realize medical expenses can be difficult to pay, especially right after a hospital stay. The requirement for meeting financial eligibility is based on the number of people living in your home and the total household income. To qualify, your total household income cannot exceed 250% of the federal poverty level.

If you qualify, we will send you a letter letting you know that we will apply our funds to your account. The maximum amount allowed is $6,000. If you do not qualify, we will still send a letter letting you know that we were unable to apply funds to your account and why you did not qualify.
